Thanks for helping out this week, son. I'm sure Jillian will take good care of JJ's for you.

I've put the new peanut-butter flavored ice cream in the back of the freezer. Have fun!

Dear Journal. Wow. I have had a crazy week. While visiting my dad. I reconnected with Nick Grant, the TV star I went on a date with after winning that contest a while back. He's become a Christian and we have really hit it off, probably a little better than I had planned. He told me he's falling in LOVE with me. He dropped the bomb on me tonight at dinner. I didn't know what to say. Thank goodness the waiter came up and interrupted us, so I was able to talk about how good the salmon was the rest of the night. But it was so awkward!

How could he say something like that? It's been like 4 days since we reconnected! I mean, it's not like I was dropping hints that I was looking for something more serious! Sure, he's easy on the eyes, and yeah we had a great time together, and sure, I may have giggled at all of his jokes...

okay, maybe I do see a problem here.

Penny:

So how did it go!?

1:31pm

Jules:

Are you guys gonna make it work so you can stay together?

1:32pm

Connie:

We were never really
“together” So, no.

1:35pm

Penny:

Oh, Connie, do you need to video call so we can cry it out?

1:35pm

Connie:

lol no, I didn't cry, and I don't feel like crying.

1:37pm

Penny:

Jules, you need to help your sister open the emotional floodgates.

1:37pm

Jules:

I'm good, thanks.

Connie:

Penny, I'm fine! I feel good about our last conversation. I apologized, and now we're on the same page.

Penny:

1:39pm

You poor thing. Wooton says to put some pepper up your nose to get the tears started.

1:41pm

Connie:

Okay, I'm leaving this thread. 🤔 I'll see you when I get home Penny!

1:42pm

Penny:

Wait!

1:42pm

You have left the thread.

CONNIE: ALL PACKED FOR TOMORROW MORNING?

JULES: YEP... UH, CONNIE?

CONNIE: YEAH?

JULES: I'M SORRY FOR GIVING YOU A HARD TIME ABOUT THE DRESS...

CONNIE: I FORGIVE YOU, JULES.

JULES: AND... CONNIE?

CONNIE: YEAH?

JULES: THANKS FOR BEING A GOOD SISTER.
